

Brian C. Behrens

Brian C. Behrens is a principal and managing partner at Carmody MacDonald. He concentrates his practice in the areas of corporate and business law, mergers and acquisitions, growth and venture companies, and corporate finance. Brian provides invaluable corporate counseling for large and small established companies as well as emerging growth companies.

His focus areas include manufacturing, logistics, warehousing, transportation, construction, software and technology development, and lending, among others. Brian's practice includes advising corporations, boards of directors, officers, and shareholders on a wide variety of matters, including corporate governance, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, and financing transactions.

As a native of St. Louis, Brian is passionate about his community. He generously volunteers his time with not-for-profit organizations to help bring new investments into the community and to help entrepreneurs and start-up organizations find the resources they need to be successful. During law school, he was an intern for the Honorable William H. Crandall, Jr., Missouri Court of Appeals, Eastern District.
